

CALCULATOR

Create a HTML Page that has a form with two textboxes to receive two numbers from the User. The form has four buttons with symbols +, -, *, and /.

After entering two numbers in the textboxes, if any of the button is clicked, the control goes to a Calculator Servlet. The Calculator Servlet passes on this value to a web service called Calculator Web Service which computes the result and returns the value which will be displayed to the user.